Capture Business Opportunities in South East Asia

This Mission is designed to provide a cost-effective entry to the Malaysian and Singapore market, expose mission members to one of the world's fastest growing economies and provide a comprehensive business-matching program for mission participants to identify real project opportunities and local partners as required for market access.

Opportunities in the Iskandar Development in Southern Malaysia.

This Mission will particularly be following up on opportunities in the Iskandar Development. This development region encompasses an area about three times the size (2,217 sq km) of Singapore, including the city of Johor Bahru and towns of Pontian, Senai, Pasir Gudang and the construction of a new administrative capital in Nusajaya.

Meetings will be arranged with key decision makers in Iskandar and the previous delegations to Melbourne.

Opportunities in Malaysia

As Malaysia progresses toward the target year of 2020, it grapples with the problem of housing its 28 million, and growing, population. Affordable, quality housing is an important goal of the Malaysian government, in line with its "caring government" theme. To produce enough houses for the population both the public and private sector are looking at various ways and technologies to build faster and better, including modular concepts, refabrication of parts or even whole house and in-situ prefabrication and installation.

Five main areas of technologies has already been identified by the Construction Industry Development Board (CIDB) for its Industrialized Building Systems (IBS) i.e. Pre-cast Concrete Framing, Panel and Box Systems; Steel Formwork Systems; Steel Framing Systems; Prefabricated Timber Framing Systems and Block Work Systems. In addition the sustainable and green building sector provides growth opportunities.

Opportunities in Singapore

Productivity enhancements in the construction industry are one of the key priorities for the Singaporean Government of late. Recently, the Singaporean Building and Construction Authority's Chief Executive Officer, Dr John Keung, led a delegation with industry representatives to visit Australia. Singapore is looking to improve productivity across the entire value chain of the construction industry (project management, site management, workers and firms and improving construction capability). Another sector rapidly growing is the Green Building sector.
